

CONGRESS LEADERS BRIEFED ON FAR EAST

Eisenhower Gives Optimistic Economic Report

Sen. George Sees Hope for More Stability

Says There is Hope for Release of Prisoners

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.) said today there is hope for the release of Americans held by Red China and for "more stability" in the Far East.

George's remarks were made after he and other Democratic and Republican congressional leaders received a secret diplomatic-military briefing at the State Department.

"We do hope that eventually the fliers will be released and that some more stability may be brought into that area of the world," George said.

George and the other congressional leaders were briefed by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff who has just returned from the Far East.

George, who is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland steadfastly refused to give any details on the briefing when they left the State Department.

They would say only that the briefing concerned the case of the jailed Americans and the flare-up in the fighting between Chinese Communist and Nationalist forces in the Tachen Islands area.

Knowland, who has been critical of United Nations efforts to free the American fliers, refused to say whether he was "encouraged or discouraged." He said he was just gathering "information."

Dulles also had first hand advice to pass on from United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld, with whom he conferred Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the Air Force planned to send telegrams to families of the Americans jailed by Red China. Hammarskjöld brought assurances of their well-being Wednesday, and the Air Force was expected to make the reports public after letting the fliers' families learn them first.

Congressional anxiety and indecision over the Communist attacks on the Nationalist-held Tachen Islands, outposts of Formosa, and continued imprisonment of the fliers was reflected in advance of the conference.

Scattered congressional comment failed to agree on President Eisenhower's view, expressed at his news conference Wednesday, that the United Nations should "exercise its good offices" to arrange a cease-fire in the Communist-Nationalist Chinese fighting.

Sen. Knowland saw the Tachen aggression as the first of a "collection of nibbles which would inevitably lead to a big bite."

Sen. George said that fall of the Tachen Islands to the Communist Chinese "might have a direct and pronounced psychological effect on the Nationalist government — on their will to resist."

Sen. Homer Capehart (R-Ind.), a member of George's committee, seriously questioned administration reliance on the U. N. to get the American fliers, called as "spies," back home again.

Mamie, White House Employee Surprise Eisenhower at Secret Council Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Surprise! cried Cabinet members and members of the White House staff today as President Eisenhower walked into a "secret" meeting of the Security Council.

Hidden in a far corner of the Cabinet room, Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower smiled delightedly as her husband's jaw dropped.

The White House officials had gathered quietly in the room to surprise their chief on the start of his third year in office. They presented him with a handsomely bound set of books.

"What a very secret meeting," the President said with a laugh when he recovered from his surprise. "I don't see how this corps accumulated so quietly. What happens now?"

Vice President Richard M. Nixon reminded the chief executive that he was inaugurated two years ago today.

"All of us are extremely proud of the opportunity of working with you . . . of being members of your team."

Then Nixon jokingly referred to the concern of "the team" over the fact that the chief executive does not have enough to do in his job.

To remedy this condition, Nixon told the President that the Cabinet and staff had selected a "birthday" present of books.

"I sincerely trust it's not the annual budget," the President said. The gift is an eight volume Swiss-published collection of color reproductions of the world's most famous paintings. The collection is

Nationalist Planes Attack Red Shipping

British Freighter Reported Sunk In Swatow Harbor

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Nationalist Chinese fighter-bombers struck heavily along 300 miles of Red China coastline from dawn to dusk today and claimed to have sunk or damaged at least 33 Communist ships, including nine gunboats.

The Reds admitted heavy damage at the port of Swatow, including the sinking of a British freighter caught at anchor in the harbor.

Today's massive attacks were an all-out effort by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's U. S.-built and supplied air force to ease the Red threat of new invasions of the strategic Tachen Islands.

A Nationalist spokesman claimed today that 720 Nationalist guerrilla fighters still held out on invaded Yikiangshan Island in the Tachen group despite a combined land, sea and air attack and waves of Red reinforcements. He said the Reds had suffered some 1,500 killed.

Reds Admit Damage

In acknowledging the heavy attack on Swatow the Reds admitted the raiders had damaged 14 merchant and fishing vessels besides sinking the British freighter.

Britain ordered an immediate protest to the Formosa government against the sinking of the ship, the 1,700-ton Edendale.

The Reds claimed to have shot down four Nationalist planes and to have damaged four others which they said made both bombing and strafing runs. The Red radio said 12 civilians were killed and another 30 wounded.

It said the planes dropped 26 bombs.

Lee, Harrisburg banker who left Harrisburg Sunday with Mrs. Lee for Gulfport, Miss., on a vacation, became seriously ill after their arrival, and underwent an emergency operation at Gulfport hospital early today for correction of a bowel obstruction. He is reported to be recovering as well as might be expected. His sons, Attorney Homer B. Lee of Harrisburg and George Lee of Carmi, left this morning for Gulfport, via plane from Paducah to New Orleans.

Miss Shirley Duncan

Miss Shirley Duncan to Address Dinner Club Jan. 27 on Australian Adventures

Miss Shirley Duncan, an attractive and courageous lass from the land "Down Under," who braved the dangers of traveling the length and breadth of the continent of Australia with her devoted dog as her only companion and protection, will be the guest speaker of the Southern Illinois Dinner club Thursday, Jan. 27, at the Kurto country club. The dinner meeting will begin at 6:30 p. m.

As far as is known, Miss Duncan is the only person to have accomplished the amazing feat of riding a bicycle across that continent both north and south and east and west, a distance of 4,000 miles with the "crow flies" but much longer the way she had to do it to take advantage of some of the "roads" she found.

Even, then, it was necessary for her to reverse the usual traveling procedure; over many of the miles she found it expedient to carry the bike instead of it carrying her.

On her unheralded trip she saw hills six feet high, ran into dust storms that completely obliterated the landscape, went through land where Aboriginal tribesmen lived primitively still using stone age weapons, and across the Nullabor Plains some 500 miles long, where stations were as much as fifty miles apart and houses few and far between.

Her experiences will be an entertaining story for members of the Dinner club. Members should make advance reservations with Rees Turner, Harrisburg, club secretary.

Party Caucuses Soon to Select Candidates for Township Elections

Caucuses soon will be held in townships throughout the county for Republican and Democratic forces to select their candidates for the April 5 township elections.

Harrisburg and most other townships this year have small tickets, with three offices to be filled in Harrisburg. Expiring this year are the terms of the highway commissioner and one member of the town park board and there will be the election of one justice of the peace to fill a vacancy.

However, seven of the 13 townships in the county will elect members of the Saline County Board of Supervisors. That means that there will be 12 holdovers from six townships of board members elected in April of 1953.

To elect 10 supervisors, a look at the election setup for supervisor and assistants reveals that the Republican party can retain control of the 22-member board by electing two supervisors in April. Right now the board is composed of 14 Republicans, seven Democrats and one elected as an Independent. And of the 12 holdovers, 10 are Republicans, one is a Democrat and the other the Independent.

Up for election are ten posts on the board now held by six Democrats and four Republicans. They are in these townships and are held by the following:

Stonewall, John Hancock D; Raleigh, Bert Jones D; Mountain, Claude Moore D; Eldorado (4), Aubrey Giles D, supervisor, and Tom Maxwell, James Burns D and S. E. Pemberton D, assistant supervisors; Independence, Herman McFarlin R; Cottage, Raymond Vineyard R; Tate, Howard Patterson R.

One Local Option Referendum

Harrisburg (6), Virgil Ferrell R, supervisor, and W. O. Douglas R, Harvey Devar R, John Lockwood R, Charles Skaggs R and Vernon Holdovers are:

Injury from Fall Is Fatal to W. C. Cooper Sr.

William C. Cooper Sr., 69, resident of 406 West Poplar, died yesterday at 8:30 p. m. in the Harrisburg hospital. Death came as a result of a fall he received Monday while trimming a tree at the Troy Hart home. Relatives stated that a tree limb was being removed and as he was guiding it away from the house with a rope, he slipped and fell on the concrete sidewalk, fracturing his skull. He never regained consciousness.

Mr. Cooper, who had been an employee of the Harts for many years, is survived by his wife, Billie, and four children: William Jr., Harrisburg, twins Norman Dee, Harrisburg, and Mrs. Norma Lee Whitestone of Des Plaines, and Mrs. Wilma L. Thompson of Washington, D. C. Ten grandchildren also survive, as do a sister, Mrs. Mary Turns of West Frankfort, and three brothers, Henry of Equality, Ed of Detroit and James of West Frankfort.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. in the chapel of the Harrisburg funeral home, where the body lies in state. Burial will be in Lindale Memorial Gardens.

Mr. Cooper was a member of the Latter Day Saints Church of Marion.

Seek to Curb Mine Gas at Cook Oil Test

Pipe was being laid on the surface yesterday afternoon to points approximately 200 feet east and west of the Roy A. Cook oil test in Section 15 of Eldorado township as efforts were made to curb gas from old Seagraves mine that was escaping through the hole with a resounding rush.

Flares at each end of these pipes will be lighted and a control valve will be placed in the hole, it was reported, and hopes were that drilling would be resumed today.

The Cook test, started last week by the Jordan Drilling Co. for Walter Duncan and J. D. Turner, is about 200 yards east of the old Seagraves mine shaft, which is on the opposite side of Route 45 from the rig.

Mr. Cook said that the drill bit hit an entry in the old mine about 4:30 p. m. Sunday and that gas, presumably mine gas, came out with a roar. With the first rush came a black dust that shot out as high as the derrick for about 30 seconds.

Workers quickly shut down the machinery.

Mr. Cook said that at first the gas came out with such a pressure that there was a whistling noise despite the fact it was coming out an 11 3/4 inch pipe.

The area around the hole was roped off and "Danger" signs were put out. The State Department of Mines and Minerals was contacted.

Some samples of the gas were put in metal bottles for a test but the results of the test were not disclosed.

Former Karber's Ridge Resident Dies

Mrs. Edith Aldrich, former resident of Karber's Ridge in Hardin county, died yesterday at 7 p. m. at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Marvin Love in Alton. She is also the mother of James Bank of Karber's Ridge.

The body was returned to Rosiclar this morning and now lies in state at the Hosick funeral home. No plans have been made.

O. E. Wiley Retires After 56 Years Clerking in Stores

O. E. WILEY, long a figure in men's clothing departments, retired at the end of the year after 56 years a clerk.

That's a long time and maybe a record for Saline county. There are cases where men have clerked, then gone into business, which may be longer but for clerking it is believed Mr. Wiley must hold some kind of record.

He stepped down from his post in the men's department of Hart's Department store, where he had been employed since April 22, 1942. Before that he had worked at a number of places in Carrier Mills and Harrisburg.

"There have been a lot of changes in clothing and in the manner of selling clothing since I started out at Carrier Mills Dec. 22, 1898, when only 14 years old," he said.

"In those early days you sold pants and jackets but mostly yard goods," he continued. "There were very few suits and those who bought them usually got them at St. Louis or some other city. A lot of suits were made from the yard goods."

He told of the transformation from the old table counter to the modern display methods of today. There used to be no racks for suits, he explained, then demonstrated how suits were handled. The coats were folded with the lining out and sleeves and pants inside, and the suits placed on these table counters.

Born at Oak Postoffice in Pope county Feb. 28, 1885, his family moved to the south part of Saline county when he was very young, and when he was eight the family moved to Carrier Mills.

"I was nearly 14 when I got my first job clerking," he said. "I wasn't a barefoot boy any more, I was a young man, because I remember I had red boots on."

The job was at the S. F. Davidson general merchandise store at Carrier Mills, managed by Davis McGehee, brother of Mrs. Nora Thompson and uncle of Dennis McGehee of Harrisburg. There he worked with Miss Maude Mitchell, who later married Charles Ozment, Stonewall banker who died a few years ago.

In 1901 he was employed at the J. C. Asher store and in 1904 he

Cruel Business

Editorial — By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Nothing is quite so maddening to a peace-loving nation like ours
as the Communists' ruthless technique of false imprisonment on trumped-up charges. It is most aggravating because it is so difficult to combat.

The latest shocking episode of this kind, Red China's imprisonment of 13 American citizens for terms from four years to life, dra-
matizes a painful fact line, dra-
matizes a painful fact line, dra-matizes a painful fact line. That the Communists did not return all Allied prisoners as they were required to do under the Korean truce
agreement.

It goes without saying that this cruel business is international gangsterism of the worst sort, a violation not alone of the Korean pact but of the laws of war governing the status of prisoners. Men in uniform are not "spies," as charged.

But the point, of course, is: What can we do about it?
A few voices raised in and out of Congress have demanded that we resort to drastic measures, declaring that "only force" will free
these men.

Such a course clearly does not recommend itself to President Eisenhower, Secretary of State Dulles
or Secretary of Defense Wilson,
nor would it be likely to have appeal to most Americans who give
the matter sober thought.

For "force" can mean just what a thing-war. Even if we could find where the imprisoned Americans were being held, we could not by any stretch of the imagination expect to conduct a successful rescue raid into sprawling China.
Thus war is the sole conceivable
course of action left to advocates
of "force."

Yet, as much as we cherish the life of every single American, the idea of plunging the whole nation
into war and sending millions to their deaths in perhaps a vain effort to save 13 men from prison
terms is something we cannot consider.

It would be very surprising if a single one of the 13 wants so colossal a sacrifice to be made in his behalf.

Frustrating though it may be,
all we can sensibly do is protest.
But it ought to be understood that protest is sometimes effective, and it could be again.

Both the United States and its ally, Britain, already have vigorously denounced this newest Red
act in defiance of international justice. But the question should be of instant importance to the United Nations, under whose command
the imprisoned Americans fought,
and to the neutral Korean Armistice Commission now overseeing the truce.

It is always arguable whether
this sort of pressure works best if accompanied by loud noises of indignation, or if more subtly applied against the high councils of the hostile state involved.

Ordinarily Americans, deeply angered at this latest outrage, nevertheless cannot decide which approach is wisest in this case. But they can insist that every ounce
of pressure be resolutely and relentlessly applied until these and other falsely imprisoned Americans are restored to full freedom.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Henry Ford Prepares To Give
Union A Guaranteed Annual
Wage; Ford Will Beat General
Motors To The Punch; Jimmy Roosevelt Offers His Father's Old Boat To The Navy.

WASHINGTON — It's been a long time since Henry Ford I amazed the world with a revolutionary wage scale—a guaranteed
wage of $5 a day to auto workers.
But today his grandson, Henry Ford II, is about to hatch something just as revolutionary.

Young Ford is about to come forward with a guaranteed annual wage to labor.

Furthermore, he is going to beat General Motors to the punch. This probably means a complete new chapter in the history of American industry. It means that other auto companies will follow suit and that Big Steel, which long has faced demands from the United Steel Workers, will also have to follow.
It means that the piecework and
the day-to-day hiring system may soon be out of the industrial window.

Behind the Ford decision are
some extremely interesting facts.
In the first place, Ford, General Motors and Chrysler all face a showdown with the United Auto Workers in the spring, when Walter Reuther has already announced
he would plump for a guaranteed
annual wage.

Ford and GM approach this showdown after a tough ten-year
battle in which both have been trying to gain leadership in the sale of low-priced cars. Ford knows that once you attain the No.
1 place, your costs drop, also your price. You don't have to put out
so many inducements in advertising to salesmen and dealers.

This race between the big two of the auto industry gives the United Auto Workers an especially strong position. For one week's strike against either Ford or GM would cost 40,000 units, while a
two-week strike would cut off 100, 000 units.

Knowing this, young Henry Ford
has decided to gamble on his own
ability and on the future prosperity of the United States to attain the No. 1 place in sale of low-price cars. Actually it's a much greater gamble than realized. For if he guesses wrong about American prosperity, if his plants are shut down for a long period, it will cost Ford millions. For during the shutdown—under the guaranteed annual wage—he must keep on paying wages.

A lot of details are still undecided regarding the Ford plan for an annual wage—such as how many workers and what type of workers will be covered; also how big the wage will be. A guaranteed wage for the year will probably be fixed at a lower level than the day-to-day wage with no certainty
of employment.

However, Henry Ford the first
thrived on controversy and young Henry is following in his grandfather's footsteps. He plans to move out into front place as a leader of American industry.

JIMMY ROOSEVELT IN CONGRESS
When Congressman Jimmy Roosevelt, newly elected from California, attended the White House reception for members of Congress,
it was like old home week.

Almost every servant remembered him from his father's days,
when he was a frequent visitor at the White House. So when he walked in, it looked for a time almost more like a servant's reception for Jimmy than an Eisenhower reception for Congressmen.

Unlike his brother, Franklin,
who commuted back and forth to
New York, Jimmy has rented a small house on the edge of Maryland and the District of Columbia and is really working at the job of being a Congressman. He's being appointed to Congressman Wright
Patman's very important Small-Business committee, is also on the Labor and Education committee,
where he will push hard for a school construction bill.

He has also introduced a vitally important amendment to Section 14 B of the National Labor Relations Act, a section which permits states to pass laws banning the closed shop. The Roosevelt amendment will set aside Section 14 B and forbid the individual states from banning the closed
shop.

This is sure to become one of the most hotly debated measures
in Congress.

One minor thing the elder Roosevelt son did upon arriving in Washington was to call on the secretary of the navy, Charles Thomas, to offer the navy a gift of a small sloop sailed by FDR when he was assistant secretary of the navy.

The sloop was kept at the Roosevelt summer place at Campobello,
Nova Scotia, and FDR used it
in happier days before he was stricken with polio. Later, Victor Hammer, the New York art collector, acquired the estate and along with it FDR's old sloop. So Jimmy has made a deal with Hammer to turn it over to the navy—
if the navy wants it.

"If you want a small boat for the
midshipmen to cruise around in off
Annapolis, it's yours," he told Thomas. "The only thing I would like to request is that you put a brass nameplate in the stern
stating that it was once used by a former assistant secretary of the
navy."

Secretary Thomas seemed interested but did not commit himself.
N. Y. POLICE IN PANAMA
It was the New York police who solved the murder of President Remon of Panama. Here is what happened.

Fed up with the delay of Panamanian police in solving the assassination mystery, ex-Ambassador

Bob Heurtematte, a former Yale
man and longtime envoy in Washington, telephoned Eddie Miller,
former assistant secretary of state, and asked him for the loan of some New York cops.

Miller serves as adviser to Mayor Bob Wagner of New York, who was delighted to help. But the State Department demurred. Assistant Secretary of State Henry Holland said the United States
couldn't send police to another nation without an official request.

At this point, Panama made the request official. The State Department removed its objection.
The New York cops arrived on Wednesday, broke the case on Friday.

Buffer Zone In Costa Rica

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — The Organization of American States
today set up a buffer zone between Costa Rica and Nicaragua to prevent border incidents that might touch off a Central American war.

A charge that Costa Rica's new
"air force" violated Nicaraguan territory Wednesday already has brought Nicaraguan troops hurrying to the border.

Luis Quintanilla, Mexican head
of the OAS commission investigating the revolt, said international ground and air patrols would be established along the frontier today
to prevent any further incidents.

He said the patrols will cover an area 18 1/2 miles wide and 6 1/2 miles deep on the "narrow neck" between Lake Nicaragua and the Pacific Ocean where most of the fighting in the revolt has taken place.

Both countries have promised to
"go the limit" in accepting OAS
recommendations, and no objections are expected.

Admiral Says 7th Fleet Can Defend Formosa

HONG KONG (AP)—Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride said today he was confident his U. S. 7th Fleet could defend against any attack and that he did not believe the Chinese Communists could capture Formosa.

"We can take them" if the Chinese throw in Soviet-built MIG-15
jets against U. S. Navy planes, he said in an interview. "There is always a flow of new aircraft into the fleet."

The U. S. 7th Fleet has been charged with the defense of Formosa and the nearby Pescadore
Islands from Communist invasion.
The Pescadores lie about 40 miles west of Formosa toward the mainland. The Tachen Islands now under Red attack lie just off the mainland some 200 miles from Formosa.

Asked if he thought the Tachen
fighting would mount into a full-scale war he replied: "Only the Communists know that."

"But every expansion of the Communist perimeter is serious,"
he said.

However, he said it did not seem sensible to draw a line against Communist expansion in the direction of Formosa because "if you fix a line the enemy will come up to that limit."

Asked if submarines had been detected in the Formosa Straits, Pride said, "There is no sense telling the other fellow what we know about him."

Asked the strength of the Chinese Communist navy he said it does pose "some threat, but not too serious." He said the Russians, of course, have a "good strong fleet" in the Far East. He would not say the exact strength.

Danville Elks Sponsor 'Be Kind To Husbands' Week

DANVILLE, Ill. (AP)—The 1,900-
member Danville Elks Club will sponsor a "Be Kind to Husbands Week," and the wives had better
be just that if they want to go to the Elks Club dance.

Next week husbands will be honored guests at a week-long series of events. Husbands must have written permission from their wives to attend, however, and unmarried members will need permission from girl friends plus a letter from the Danville police chief.

"Be Kind to Husbands Week" will be financed by an Elks Club
dance Friday.

The wife must escort her husband to the dance, light his cigarettes, open doors for him and pay him all those little courtesies that women generally expect.

Fill Vacancies On Presbyterian Official Boards

The annual congregational meeting of the Presbyterian church was held in the church basement Wednesday evening, with approximately one hundred in attendance.
The meeting started at 6 p. m.
with a dinner, followed by group
singing.

During the business meeting,
presided over by the Rev. John Emig, church pastor, reports from all organizations of the church
were read and the 1955 budget was approved. The reports showed increased activity and attendance
throughout the church during 1954.

Vacancies on three official boards, created by expiration of terms, were filled and those elected will be ordained and installed
during the regular morning worship service in the near future.

Elected to serve as elders were
S. M. Farrar and Sam Cape; newly elected deacons are John Hetherington, Raymond Carroll, John Utter, Cecil Wasson and Ed Martin and Blu Hetherington was re-elected a trustee.

Chancellor Robert R. Livingston,
of New York, administered the oath of office to George Washington in 1789.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Douglas Sweet who passed away Jan. 20, 1953.

I have lost my life's companion,
A life linked with my own.
And every day I miss him more
As I walk through life alone.
The call was short and the shock severe,
To part with one I love so dear.
No one knows the silent heartaches
Only those who have lost can tell
Of the grief I bear in silence
For the one I love so well.
I never knew that hearts could ache

With such bitter pain,
Longing for a vanished face,
To hear his voice again.
I never knew that nights could be
So lonely, cold and dim.
But Oh, I learned so many things
Because of losing him.
If all the world were mine to give
I would give it all and more,
To see his face I love so dear
Come smiling through my door.
Sadly missed by wife, children
and grandchildren. *172-1

Toll Road Suit
Under Advisement
By Three Judges

CHICAGO — Three federal judges Wednesday took under advisement a suit challenging the constitutionality of the Illinois Toll Road Act.

The suit, seeking an injunction
to prevent toll road construction
in Illinois, was brought on behalf of the Illinois Property Owners Assn.

Since the judges are required to put consideration of this suit ahead
of all others, an early decision was promised.

However, an appeal to the United States Supreme Court by the losing side appeared certain.

The evidence in the case was reduced to two questions — whether public hearings were required before the selection of routes for the toll roads and if they had been held.

The property owners contended
that hearings were required but not held.

However, Werner Schroeder, special assistant attorney general, cited a U. S. Supreme Court decision in 1922 which held that the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors did not have to hold public hearings before building a scenic road.

Dale's Secretary
Limited to Jail
Visiting Hours

ST. LOUIS — Evan R. Dale's
secretary will have to confine her visits with him to regular visiting
hours at the city jail.

Dale, head of Southern Illinois
AFL laborers, is under a 15-year
sentence in federal prison for labor racketeering. Pending his appeal from his conviction in Federal Court at East St. Louis, Ill., he is held in the St. Louis City Jail.

Warden E. E. Hensley said
Dale's secretary, Mrs. Edna Burns, Cairo, Ill., has been posing as Dale's attorney in order to obtain special visits.

Regular visiting hours at the jail are from noon to 2:30 p. m., Thursdays only, but special visits are allowed to attorneys and close relatives of inmates unable to take advantage of the regular hours.

Dale's attorney, John J. Hoban
of East St. Louis, said Mrs. Burns
has been visiting Dale to wind up his affairs as president of the AFL Southern District Council of Laborers. Hoban said he thought Dale and Mrs. Burns "have everything
just about in order now."

Priest Gives Communion to Eight Hostages Held by Four Armed Convicts

BOSTON — A Catholic priest
walked into the beleaguered fortress of four mutinous, armed convicts at Massachusetts State Prison
today and gave communion to eight of the 11 men they have held hostage for three days.

The Rev. Edward T. Hartigan, prison chaplain, distributed the
communion to four of the five captive guards and four of the six hostage convicts. One of the guards and the other prisoners are not Catholics.

The rebellious convicts, who seized the guards Tuesday in an effort to win freedom, spurned all pleas to end their mutiny, which entered its 54th hour at 11 a. m.

Authorities said there were no
signs of dissension among the rebels, all of them hardened long-term prisoners. All are talkative and keep in telephone touch with the warden's office.

Dr. Samuel Merlin, prison physician, carried a warm breakfast to the guards this morning, and reported he saw no indication of weakening among the convicts.

Earlier, the daughter of one of the four convicts and the brother of another tried and failed to get the convicts to surrender.

Authorities expressed hope, however, that some break might come
today in the revolt that began Tuesday at 5 a. m. They gave no specific reasons for their optimism.

Grounds For Optimism

Father Hartigan said after his visit that the convicts were talka-tive. He said this might be grounds for optimism.

"Though they are determined, I am optimistic about the outcome of the situation," the Catholic priest said. "Their talkativeness
indicates a desire to lay bare their problems."

"They talked at great length
about the injustices of the Massachusetts Criminal Code and the type of sentencing in the state,"
he said. "It takes from their heart
any hope of release from prison."

"I tried again to talk them out of their hopeless position, but they are still determined to hold out."
Among the other visitors to the mutineers were Toby Green, 16-
year-old daughter of bank robber
The

year's economic decline "relatively mild and brief" and said 1954 "will go down in history as one of our most prosperous years." But he conceded that some localities and industries, particularly manufacturers of durable goods, "suffered seriously."

Cities Business Upturn

The decline was halted last fall and business generally turned up, he said.

"When the year ended... a general economic recovery was in process," he said.

"The vigor of the recent recovery, which has already made up half of the preceding decline in industrial production, suggests that economic expansion will probably continue during coming months."

Because the business future is so bright for this year, Mr. Eisenhower said, his recommendations now are directed primarily at long-range economic growth rather than to any immediate stimulating effect. Nevertheless, some upward thrust on the nation's economy would be felt this year if his recommendations are carried out, he said.

His recommendations included a 10-year 101 billion dollar highway program, raising the minimum wage from 75 to 90 cents an hour, further liberalization of the home mortgage program and a step-up in school construction.

Mr. Eisenhower emphasized his belief that America's prosperity is based on its free enterprise system.

"Our economy is strong," he said, "because it contains, in addition to its five million farm enterprises, four million independent centers of business decision — each potentially free to experiment with new ideas, new men, new methods and new products."

Lists Prosperity Factors

Mr. Eisenhower listed these factors as favoring a growing prosperity: A growing population, rising education levels, improvement in work skills, wide distribution of income, an eagerness to better living standards, creation of new businesses and expansion of old ones, and new opportunities opened up by research and technological advances.

Mr. Eisenhower proposed that unemployment insurance payments be increased to at least half of a jobless person's regular earnings and that the minimum period for such payments be 26 weeks. He said payments now average about 34 per cent of regular earnings.

He also urged extension of unemployment insurance coverage to employees of state and local governments and to those working for firms employing less than four persons.

He recommended that old-age and survivors insurance be extended to federal employees.

A 15-cent-an-hour increase in the minimum wage is the most that "can be economically justified" now, he said. Labor unions have attacked it as being too little.

"A higher minimum (than 90 cents) might well cause lower production and substantial unemployment in several industries, and... would probably bring higher prices in its wake," Mr. Eisenhower said.

He estimated that under present coverage the wages of about 1,300,000 would be increased directly by an average of nine cents an hour. Others now earning more than 90 cents an hour, he added, "probably would receive wage increases to preserve customary differentials."

Would Add To Costs

He noted that these increases would "add appreciably" to industrial costs, particularly in the South. But he said such industries should be able to absorb at least part of these additional costs because of greater sales of their products in an expanding economy.

He also recommended that minimum wage protection be extended to "substantial numbers" of workers not now covered.

Mr. Eisenhower gave a general outline of an expanded school construction program with indications states and local governments would be expected to put up most of the money. He promised more detailed recommendations in a special message Feb. 15.

His suggestions included loans or gifts by states to local school districts, establishment of independent authorities to raise funds by sale of bonds secured by leasehold rental payments, and lease-purchase plans calling for installment payments.

South is Hit By Heavy Snows

By United Press

A snow blanket up to 15 inches deep stretched across the Southland today from Tennessee and Kentucky almost to the Atlantic Ocean.

The South got its heaviest snows in years in many areas when a surprise blizzard came sweeping out of the Midwest Wednesday.

On the West Coast, California recovered from three days of furious storms that struck first in the north with winds up to 104 miles per hour and then lashed the Los Angeles area with baby tornadoes and mountain blizzards.

North Carolina, which was hit hardest by the eastern storm, lay under eight to 12 inches of snow today. Most counties in the state closed their schools in the storm's wake and highway travel came to a dead halt for a time.

Abingdon, Va., was buried under 15 inches of snow and nine counties in the southwest part of Virginia closed their schools. Near Chester, Va., five cars piled up on an icy patch of highway and one of them was demolished.

California's traditional brilliant sunshine showed up today to ease the task of digging out from the storm.

However, a search was underway for a Fillmore area man who disappeared in heavy mountain snow. Drifts were seven feet deep at Big Bear Lake and crews in the San Bernardino Mountains were digging out from the worst blizzard in 30 years.

Elsewhere in the nation it was mostly cold, with freezing weather stretching as far south as Atlanta, Ga. The nation's coldest spots were in Wisconsin and Michigan, where some 5 below zero readings were reported.

Liquid Oxygen Demonstration at Jaycee Meeting

A fascinated Jaycee audience watched and heard LaFoe Bradley, of the Airrite Corp., demonstrate the wonders of liquid oxygen last night at the regular Jaycee meeting.

Bradley first explained the process by which raw air is purified of water and carbon dioxide by being placed under 3000 pounds of pressure and released, thereby providing the pure oxygen for the end product. The gas is then subjected to extremely low temperatures which change it to a liquid form, in which state it is combined with lampblack to produce an explosive equal in force to its equivalent weight in TNT. He stated that the oxygen will remain in a liquid state at temperatures from minus 250 to minus 300 degrees Fahrenheit, and displayed a series of tricks which the extremely cold liquid will perform.

Such stunts as freezing a piece of rubber tubing to the shattering point, freezing grapes to the firmness of marbles, turning a straight anti-freeze solution into ice, solidifying a raw egg, and producing a candle from solidified raw kerosene held the attention of the Jaycees in one of the most fascinating programs in many months.

Bradley was introduced by program chairman John Cape, who in turn appointed Bob Wilson chairman for the February program night, which will be the third meeting night in February.

Tokyo Train Crashes Through Bridge

TOKYO (U.P.)—An electric train carrying about 50 passengers crashed through a bridge over the Tenryu River tonight and national police headquarters said three were known dead, and 47 injured, eight seriously.

A police spokesman said a boulder that slid onto the tracks from a mountain caused the accident. The train hit the boulder and was derailed off the bridge.

Glacier Movement

A glacier moves down a valley much as a mass of almost solid tar would move down a slope. The upper and middle parts move the fastest, with the sides and bottom being slowed as they rub against the bottom of the valley.

The nice thing about radio is that it's one form of entertainment that doesn't show old movies.

Kansas State Trips Missouri Tigers, 78-67

By United Press

Basketball's new wave of upsets claimed still another big-name victim today, knocking mighty Missouri out of first place in the Big Seven Conference.

Kansas State, beaten twice by Missouri in previous meetings this season, suddenly turned on the Tigers Wednesday night and beat them, 78-67, on their own home court at Columbia, Mo. The defeat smashed a six-game Missouri winning streak and left Colorado alone in first place in the league.

Before the game Missouri and Colorado had been tied for first place, each with a 3-0 league mark.

Missouri beat K-State on a neutral court, 89-71, in last month's Big Seven tournament and also on State's home court, 94-85, only last Saturday. But this time Missouri was "stone cold," sinking into 33.8 per cent of its shots, while Kansas State, was "red hot" with a 51 per cent shooting percentage.

Puerto Rican Sparkplug

Pachin Vicens, a 5-foot, 9-inch sophomore from Puerto Rico, was the sparkplug of the Kansas State team, leading the scoring with 21 points and playing a brilliant floor game. Roger Craft aided with 15 points, but Bob Reiter of Missouri took high scoring honors for the game with 32 points.

For Missouri, currently ranked the nation's No. 8 team, it was only the third loss in 13 games and its first home court loss since bowing to Kansas State last Feb. 27.

Missouri's defeat marked the third straight night that upsets had stunned league-leading teams. On Monday, Illinois lost a share of the Big Ten lead and Vanderbilt a share of the Southeastern Conference lead in surprising defeats. And Tuesday, Texas Christian lost undisputed control of first place in the Southwest Conference, dropping back into a tie.

Dukes Bow To Andrews

Duquesne, the nation's sixth-ranked team, also tasted defeat Wednesday night but the loss was to a non-college team. Undefeated Andrews Air Force won its 22nd straight game by beating the Dukes 84-70. Included on the Andrews team are such graduated college stars as All-America Cliff Hagan and Lou Tsioropoulos of Kentucky and Dick Knostman of Kansas State.

However, three other high-ranked teams that played Wednesday night scored easy wins. LaSalle, ranked second nationally, romped to its 13th win in 13 starts, 85-50, over West Chester, Pa., State as All-America Tom Gola scored 22 points. Dayton, ranked 15th, impressively defeated Western Kentucky, 91-73, for its 12th win in 15 games. And Niagara, ranked 16th, sank 62.9 per cent of its shots to beat Assumption College of Windsor, Ont., 99-55, for its 12th win in 14 games.

In other games: Bob Schafer's 22 points led Villanova to its 70th straight home court win, 77-63, over Drexel Institute, the first loss for Drexel in 13 victories; Geneva beat Pittsburgh, 101-96; Penn State edged Lehigh in overtime, 81-75; Florida State beat Mississippi State 91-76; Louisville trounced Morehead, 99-62; Xavier, Ohio, beat Murray State, 74-68; De Paul almost blew a 17-point lead but defeated Bradley, 65-62; and Seattle downed Regis, 70-54.

Kiwanis to Observe 40th Anniversary

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Kiwanis International, the nation's third largest service organization, will celebrate its 40th anniversary Friday.

Most of the 4,000 Kiwanis clubs in the United States, Canada, Alaska and Hawaii will observe the anniversary with social activities and special meetings.

Don E. Engdahl, international president of the organization, will make a "pledge of re-dedication" to President Eisenhower in Washington and to the prime minister of Canada in Ottawa.

Engdahl's pledge stressed the need for "the cooperation of leaders in government at all levels, and a growing understanding of the needs of the community, state, province and nations."

Kiwanis International was founded in Detroit, Mich., in 1915.

Passes 31st Birthday In Hospital, In Coma for Seven Years

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Another birthday passed Wednesday for Martin Punis, who has been in a coma for seven years.

Punis' devoted, 74-year-old mother baked a cake and relatives gathered around his hospital bed on his 31st birthday.

The unconscious Punis absorbed his birthday repast through a tube in his nose.

Punis was stricken 12 years ago with Wilson's disease, a mysterious ailment which attacks certain brain cells and causes a gradual paralysis. The disease's cause and cure are not known.

A sister said Punis' mother, Mrs. Anna Punis, has devoted her life to her son and has slept only two hours a night since he became unconscious.

Crab Orchard Defeats Dahlgren, 9-2

WALTONVILLE, Ill. (U.P.)—Crab Orchard High School whipped Dahlgren, 106-48, when they met in a Little Egyptian Conference basketball game Jan. 7.

Dahlgren used stalling tactics Wednesday night when the two teams met again in a conference tournament here and "held" Crab Orchard to a 3-0 halftime lead and a 9-2 final score.

Looking At Sports

By ED KIRKPATRICK

We didn't get to see Harrisburg's victory over Benton Tuesday night, but we've heard many fine reports on the Bull Dog showing. When it is to be recalled that the locals took a 73-39 lacing at the hands of the Rangers early in December, the victory looms still bigger. And placed alongside the near-triumph last Friday over West Frankfort, a glimmering of hope comes to the eyes of all Harrisburg fans. Perhaps the team is beginning to move. This week end should tell. The Bull Dogs face county rival Eldorado Friday and Mt. Vernon Saturday.

Shawneetown notched No. 17 in its victory over Pope Co. Tuesday night. Both teams displayed some good defensive work. Pope Co. experienced some "tough luck" shooting with a lot of near hits. They played hard but were overshadowed by Shawneetown's calmness and marksmanship. Bobby Spottsville, who took only four shots the entire fracas, didn't make a point from the field. He scored on six of nine chances at the foul line. But Spottsville's real play was on the boards. His great rebounding did much to set up the Shawneetown victory.

The Pirates threw up such a fine defense around big Jack Nolen, high scoring Indian, that he was held to a mere 11 points. Garrison Newsom carried the major burden of the Shawnee attack. His 21 points was high for the evening. A total of 20 points was scored in the third period of this game, yet only four of them were made on field goals—one goal by each team.

Ridgway, 13-point loser to Galatia in November, almost dumped the Bearcats in what many had given up as a lost cause. With one minute remaining, the Eagles trailed 45-39. Exactly 57 seconds later, they trailed by a single point. Ridgway, with two of their starting five resting on the bench during the third period, elected to stall out the quarter. They took only three shots at the hoop, made only one point in the eight minute period as they endeavored to maintain possession of the ball.

Tournament officials are to be complimented on the fine manner in which the opening night's activities proceeded. Good sportsmanship and fine officiating were also highlights. Pope County's yell leaders were splendid hostesses for other such groups, we noted, and also directed the large body of hometown supporters.

Wabash Valley Tourney Underway

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (U.P.)—All 15 preliminary sessions in the 40th annual Wabash Valley high school basketball tourney jumped into action today with all former champions still in the running.

Several get the act tonight in "crucial" games, among them the collision of defending champ Terre Haute Germeyer, which grabbed the last three "Valley" crowns, and city rival Garfield, also a three-time winner.

Terre Haute Wiley, which also owns three "Valley" titles, got a big scare Wednesday night, outlasting suburban Honey Creek in overtime, 67-64. They had struggled to a 60-60 photo finish after 32 minutes.

At Oblong, Ill., Martinsville won from Marshall, 16-8, in the tourney's first real freeze. Period scores were 2-0, 2-2, and 4-2.

At Linton, once-beaten Switz City took Lyons to the cleaners, 103-37.

He and his wife, Myrtle, whom he married in 1912, reside at 212 West Raymond avenue.

Shawneetown vs. Galatia, Vienna Plays Rosiclare in Semifinals

Cave-in-Rock and Equality Eliminated In Pope Co. Tourney

Vienna nudged Cave-in-Rock, 62-60, and Rosiclare's Cinderella team nipped Equality in the last five seconds, 46-45, to enter the semifinal rounds of the Greater Egyptian conference tournament tonight at the Pope County high gymnasium.

Undefeated and tourney-favorite Shawneetown will face Galatia for the third time this year in the first game of the semifinals tonight at 7 o'clock. Second-seeded Vienna and Rosiclare will tangle in the second tiff. Winners of tonight's games will meet for the championship tomorrow evening with the losers playing a consolation game.

Another near-capacity crowd witnessed the two hard-fought and closely-contested Wednesday night games. Rosiclare pulled the upset of the evening by nipping out "Kayo" Willis' Equality cagers. Losers of 11 straight games until last Friday night when they upset Ridgway, Rosiclare's sophomore-studded team surprised many with their improved showing.

The Bears' victory was largely due to the last second sharpshooting of senior Shelby Clark. Clark entered the ball game with a minute and 12 seconds remaining. At that moment, Equality led, 45-42. Clark was fouled with 15 seconds to go and pitched in both free tosses, cutting the Card margin to a mere point. In the hectic moment which followed, Equality stepped over the line in putting the ball in play. Rosiclare tossed in the sphere. Clark shot and scored. The buzzer sounded before Equality could get another shot away.

It was a heart-breaking defeat for the Cardinals who had had an uphill battle through the second and third periods. Ahead 8-5 at the quarter, Equality slipped behind 23-19 at halftime, as the Bears began to roll. Unable to find the range in the third, the Williamses watched the young Rosiclare quintet sweep into a 34-23 advantage.

Then in the fourth the Cardinals came to life, and clicking with regularity, they caught the Bears and moved ahead. The game seemed slated away with half a minute to go.

Tiger Jones Takes Easy Win From Robinson

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Ray Robinson's comeback campaign came a cropper because he "fought like an amateur," winner Ralph (Tiger) Jones said today, but he wouldn't call the ex-champion a "dead" fighter yet.

"I fought for the Police Athletic League," Jones said, "and he fought for the Star and Crescent. That's in the amateurs. But he fought the same way. A jab and a one-two."

"That's why I beat him. I never lost to a SAC fighter yet."

Jones won easily Wednesday night before 7,282 Chicago Stadium fans.

He was quicker with his hands and with his feet. He was hitting more sharply, with more accuracy. And Robinson, now 32, who in the past held both the welterweight and middleweight championships before he retired unbeaten with the 160-pound crown, couldn't stay with him.

"I just didn't have any timing," Robinson said. "I knew my timing was bad, but I thought I had some."

Will Not End Comeback

Robinson bled from the right eye after the second round and from the nose after the third. Jones never was cut, and Robinson's bleeding never stopped completely.

"He hurt me," Jones said, "with a left to the right side of my face in the eighth. I thought my eye was coming out."

And Jones had no answer to the question whether he thought he would do as well against Robinson, if the ex-champion has another five or six fights and they should meet again in five or six months.

Robinson said flatly that his loss to Jones, his fourth defeat in 143 pro fights, did not mean the end of his comeback campaign aimed at regaining the middleweight title he once held from Carl (Bobo) Olson.

"I never thought I'd win them all," he said. "I guess my associates were right when they said he was too tough for a second comeback fight."

Robinson's first comeback appearance resulted in a sixth round knockout of Joe Rindone in Detroit two weeks ago.

Kansas State Grid Coach Quits, Takes Post at Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (U.P.)—Coach Bill Meek of Kansas State, who learned the single wing from Tennessee's Gen. Bob Neyland and coached the split-T for Maryland's Jim Tatum, today took on the job of building University of Houston a big-time football team.

Houston gave Meek a five-year head coaching contract of undisclosed terms. He succeeds Clyde V. Lee, the Missouri Valley Conference school's coach for seven seasons, who resigned last Dec. 6.

play. Clark's four points—his total for the game—in the final 15 seconds spelled the difference.

Vienna Rallies

In one of the best games of the opening round, Vienna edged Cave with a fourth period rally. Trailing 50-46 entering the final canto, Coach Carroll Belcher's cagers staged an uprising that overtook the Rivermen midway in the period. Cave remained in contention until the final buzzer.

Vienna was ahead 18-15 at the end of the first quarter and managed to maintain a slight edge at the intermission, 33-32. The game was close throughout with neither team trailing more than half dozen points at any time.

Cave appeared to be taking charge of the tussle in the third, as they outscored their opponents, 18-13, for the period and charged in front by four. But the last quarter spurt by Vienna beat down the Cavemen.

Iowa, Minnesota Top Scoring Teams in Big 10

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Scoring efficiency stood out today as the primary reason for Minnesota and Iowa pacing the Big Ten basketball race with three wins in four games.

The Hawkeyes were the loop leader in points with an 88 per game average while Minnesota was second with 85.8. Iowa was the second best defensive team and Minnesota third.

In addition, Iowa was the second best club in field goal shooting with a 43.1 per cent average and Minnesota third with 41.7. Northwestern, in third place in the standings, was the leader in field goal accuracy with 43.9 per cent.

In individual scoring Ohio State's Robin Freeman held first place with a 35.6 point per game average, while Don Schlund of Indiana and Dick Garmaker, Minnesota, were second and third with averages of 30.4 and 28.0.

Michigan State's Al Ferrari made the biggest leap in individual scoring, going from 11th to fourth with a 21-point per game average while Bill Ridley of Illinois broke into the top 10 scorers with a 19-point average.

Duane Peterson of Michigan State led in field goal shooting percentages with 60.5, while Freeman had the best free throw average, 89.7.

Furillo Signs Dodger Contract

By United Press

Brooklyn outfielder Carl Furillo, owner of one of the finest arms in baseball, unlimbered it long enough Thursday to sign for an estimated $22,000.

Furillo won the batting championship with a .344 average in 1953 and although he slipped to .294 last season, his salary was not cut. Starting his 10th season with Brooklyn, Furillo, a Reading, Pa., native, has a lifetime batting average of exactly .300.

Tom Brewer, 23-year-old right-hander who won 10 and lost nine for the Red Sox, signed his 1955 contract while the Chicago Cubs announced the signing of shortstop Ed Winesap, up from Des Moines of the Western League.

Three holdovers, Bob Buhl, Roy Smalley and Phil Paine, and a pair of rookies, Bob Trowbridge and Al Facchini, agreed to terms with Milwaukee, making a total of 24 Braves who have signed contracts for 1955.

District Governor of Rotary to Address Ladies' Night Meeting

The Rotary club of Harrisburg will be host to William E. Spieth, Governor of District 216 of Rotary International, who is making his annual official visit to each of the 48 clubs in southern Illinois. He will address the local group at its Ladies' Night meeting this coming Monday at 6:30 p. m. in the Masonic temple.

Mr. Spieth will also confer with club president John F. Foster, secretary Louie Beltz and committee chairmen on Rotary administration and service activities, and on plans for the Rotary administration and service activities, and on plans for the participation by the local club in the world-wide observance of Rotary's Golden Anniversary, Feb. 23-June 2.

The district governor, a Centralia photographer, has been a member of Rotary since 1921 and has a 33-year perfect attendance record. He is a past president of the Centralia group and was elected to his present post at the annual Rotary convention in Seattle, Wash., last June.

"Wherever Rotary clubs are located," President Foster asserted in discussing the Governor's visit, "their activities are similar to those of the local club, because they are based on the same general objectives — developing better understanding and fellowship among business and professional men, promoting community betterment, raising the standards of business and professions and fostering the advancement of good will, understanding and peace among all the peoples of the world."

Each year, this world-wide service organization continues to grow in numbers and in strength. During the past fiscal year, 448 new Rotary clubs were organized in 51 countries of North, South, and Central America, Europe, Asia, Africa and the Islands of the Pacific.

Southern Illinois Members are Early Sponsors Legislative Bills

By DON CHAMBERLAIN
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—Southern Illinois members are among the early sponsors of legislation in the 69th General Assembly. More than a dozen lawmakers from the south portion of the state were in the first rush to drop bills and resolutions in the Assembly hopper. Most of them were held on the Speaker's or President's table for reference to committees.

Rep. Paul Powell, D., Vienna, was among the most active. Powell sponsored or co-sponsored six measures with Rep. Alan J. Dixon, D., Belleville, having his name on four items. Senate authors included Sens. James O. Monroe, Collinsville; William F. Hensley, Lawrenceville; James W. Gray, East St. Louis; and Glen O. Jones, new Republican member from Raleigh.

In the House other southern Illinoisans to introduce legislation included Reps. Paul Simon, 25-year old weekly newspaper publisher from Troy and the youngest member of the legislature; Paul Ziegler, Carmi; Clyde Choate, Anna, a World War II congressional medal of honor winner, and House Democratic whip; Gordon E. Kerr, Brookport; and W. O. Verhines, Vienna.

Proposals Offered
Measures offered by the southern Illinoisans include proposals to amend the state constitution to give 18-year olds the vote; to take the state sales tax off food (it would reduce state revenue $70 million annually); to investigate the Illinois Toll Highway commission; to authorize absentee ballots for sick persons; and to limit automobile speed on state highways.

Powell, Dixon, and Choate were sponsors of the House joint resolution to exempt food from the state sales tax and Senators Monroe and Gray were cosponsors with 17 Chicago Democrats on a Senate joint resolution to give older teenagers the right to vote. The proposal to give sick persons the right to vote by absentee ballots was offered by Representatives Simon and Dixon and seven other Democrats.

Dixon also was on two bills with four other Democratic representatives to curtail activities of the toll road commission. It provides all spending by the commission be limited to that provided in legislative appropriations and would set up a state treasury toll road fund in which to pay revenue collected at toll gates. Senator Hensley is author of the bill to limit speed on highways.

Economic Commission
The Hensley proposal is similar to one offered in the House by Representatives Ralph Stephenson, Moline, and George Brydian, Prophetstown. Both follow outlines of recommendations contained in Gov. William G. Stratton's biennial address. They provide for a 65 miles per hour limit for daytime driving and 55 miles for driving at night.

Hitchhiker Convinces Police $300 Was Gift

CHICAGO — If Carl Mayes' luck holds out, he should have no trouble in winning for a wife, a Wisconsin girl who has never seen him.

The dapper 22-year-old from Evergreen, N. C., convinced skeptical Chicago police Tuesday that a motorist gave him $300 last Friday simply because the hitchhiking Mayes said he believed in God.

His good luck interrupted his trip to Thorp, Wis., where he hoped to meet and marry his correspondence sweetheart.

Mayes resumed his trip Wednesday, this time in a luxury streamliner. In Thorp, Darlene Jean Shoemaker, 19, indicated she wasn't quite sure what to think of the situation.

Miss Shoemaker, the object of Mayes' literary attentions, said "I don't know if I will marry him yet or not. I'll have to get to know him personally before we could become engaged."

Chicago police believed that, with his uncanny luck, Mayes should have little trouble convincing Miss Shoemaker.

Western Allies Taking Calculated Risk in Reviving Militarism in Germany

Editor's Note: The Western Allies are deliberately taking the risk of revived German militarism by rearming the Bonn Republic. The message of Russian Communist aggression is more dangerous. The question already is arising, however, how long it may be before resurgent Germany looms as a decisive factor in the world picture. Following is a dispatch assessing the situation by the U. P. chief correspondent and manager for Germany.

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent
BONN, Germany (U.P.)—The Western Allies are about to rear a colossus in Western Germany.

For better or for worse, they are rearming the country which they forced to unconditional surrender only 10 years ago.

Regardless of French fears, the United States and Great Britain have decided that the Bonn Republic must be armed as the first line of defense against a possible

Soviet Russian attack, even though they know they are taking a calculated risk of reviving aggressive German militarism.

But the question already is being asked: How long will it be before the colossus of Germany overshadows the colossus of Russia?

How They Compare
On the surface, there is no comparison between Russia and Germany.

Russia, with a population of 200 million, spans Europe and Asia from the Baltic and Mediterranean seas to the Pacific. Its area is 8,708,070 square miles.

West Germany's population is 50 million. Its area is 94,692 square miles.

Russia's armed forces are enormous. They total more than four million men. Russia has 175 Army divisions.

West Germany's armed forces will be small. They will total 500,000—a 12-division army of 400,000 men, an 80,000-man air force and a 20,000-man coastal navy.

Russ Remember 1941
But Russia is frightened at the prospect of German armament. The Kremlin remembers how the German army cut through its Red Army in 1941 like a knife through warm butter.

Germany is compact, where the Soviet Union is sprawling. Germany's transport network is among the world's best. Russia's is among the world's worst.

Germany's industry is efficient. Russia's is inefficient. Where Germany's factories hum, Russia's creak.

The West German workman is free and well fed. Russia's workmen are little more than slaves.

Germany's army will be completely new. Every weapon in it will be modern. Most of its men will be volunteers. It will have the pride and tradition of the most warlike nation in Europe.

Industrially, West Germany is booming. It is one of the most prosperous countries in the world.

Comeback From Defeat
Its great factory, steel and coal areas were ruined by Allied bombs during World War II. But it has made a remarkable comeback.

West Germany's coal and steel industries broke all post-war records in 1954.

Coal production totalled 128 million tons, compared with 124 1-2 million in 1953.

Production of raw steel totalled 17,432,104 tons compared with 15,419,939 in 1953.

The shipyards which lay in ruins 10 years ago turned out an estimated 920,000 tons of shipping in 1954, including 300,000 tons for foreign customers.

Western Germany turned out about 670,000 automobiles in 1954, a six-fold increase since 1948.

Other German manufactures are going out to all the world.

No wonder the Kremlin does not like the idea of West German armament!

Seven Rules for Staying Married

MADISON, Wis. — (U.P.) — A Wisconsin supreme court justice who handled hundreds of divorce cases as a Milwaukee circuit judge before moving to the state's highest court has some advice about how to stay married.

"There is no such thing as a completely frictionless marriage and many tensions disrupt the flow of married bliss," according to Justice Roland Steinle.

"The small things keep piling up until a couple can no longer endure the sight of each other. If you ask them why, they can't tell you. All they can say is that it is a lot of things."

He gave these seven rules for easing the tensions and making married life happier:

1. Be as nice to your spouse as you are to yourself.

2. Maintain a sense of humor.

3. Don't take your problems to outsiders.

4. Don't forget small attentions.

5. Advice of parents should be sought only on infrequent and really important occasions. Most problems should be worked out between the husband and wife.

6. Keep financial matters on a business plane, with the idea that marriage is a partnership financially as well as in other ways.

7. Marry with the feeling that divorce is illegal and marriage is permanent.

Fight The Wild River

by EDMUNDS CLAUSSEN

© 1954, W. Edmunds Clausen. Prior copyright, Standard Publications, Inc.

THE STORY: Because Riverboat Captain Crotch helped to prevent a rifle shipment destined for a Union Army outpost from falling into the hands of Confederate sympathizers, he has apparently lost business. His competitor Captain Jamison has explained to Sugar Logan, also a sympathizer with the South, that Crotch was not as neutral as he should have been. So Logan and his partner have turned Crotch's barges over to Jamison.

XIV

Castle Dome was simply a jump-off place for prospectors exploring deeper in the desert. A trader's post had sprung up and Jamison was building storage sheds and using the place for overnight mooring and wood lot. The camp was destined to grow for no special reason other than Navigation using it as a general depot.

A grand sight burst upon Crotch as they rounded the bend and came down the straight channel to the landing. The Amador had her prow against the dark bank, tied fore and aft to the trees. Crotch's ore-laden barges, snubbed fast beside her. She had been met by the upriver San Diego at this point and both Navigation boats had made fast for the night. There was no thought in Crotch's mind the two boats thus increased the odds against him; he was merely doubling his chances of dealing a major setback to Jamison.

Crotch rang off his engine, drifted against the bank a good 50 yards above the Amador. Safeties let go as his head of steam began escaping. The Cocopah Indians stood at the port rail fore and aft, ready to throw their lines, but shoremen failed to appear to receive them; from this Crotch judged Jamison had already talked and no one in Castle Dome wanted to take sides in what was coming.

He dragged a sleek-barreled revolver from its holster beside the wheel, thrust it inside his waistband. Then he tossed Goss a wicked look. "Comin', Ben?" He felt glee kick up all the way from his belly.

Crotch reached the Amador first, but she lay in darkness. Her plank was withdrawn and Crotch had a sudden insight that Jamison was no longer aboard. He ran on to the San Diego whose deck was alive with miners whose upriver.

Beside the pilothouse of this second boat he saw a pair of dark figures.

Ames Jamison stood at her upper railing beside the San Diego's own skipper, Clyde Maddix. They waved mockingly as Crotch came in closer, and Crotch knew neither captain was disturbed to see him here.

The San Diego was a trim single-ended of 30 feet greater length than Crotch's ship, with a pointed prow and heavy hog-framing and a circular pilothouse perched cagelike atop her texas. She was virtually as luxurious as the Amador, but much older, and her hull and underwater timbers were rotten.

"You got a stiff passenger aboard for cargo?" Jamison called down, and his tone carried a taunting laugh. Obviously it was a joke aboard the San Diego that Jamison had refused to carry the pine box from La Paz, taking only the ore barges.

Crotch strove to remain cool in spite of the heat that swept through him. "Run out a plank, Jamison. You and I are going to talk freight rates!"

"How much did you offer to haul their stuff for? Whatever it is, you'll raise it five times if you're able to crowd us off the river."

Jamison took that, his passengers listening in with rapt attention. Along the river it was understood he owned half the stock in the Navigation combine, the balance divided between Maddix and Calhoun and three or four lesser hirelings.

By this time Crotch was thoroughly aroused and he lifted his voice hoarsely. "You try and move these barges downriver and I'll sink them!"

It brought only an insolent laugh from Jamison. "And you," he called back, "are going back to your New England fishing banks!"

Crotch plunged knee-deep into the swirling water, his hand outstretched for Jamison's railing. Even if there was no gangplank there was still one sure way of climbing aboard a steamboat. Here, with his fingers on the railing, Maddix's voice caught him flatly.

"Gentlemen, no more fighting! A lady—may I present another passenger for Captain Crotch? A woman who troubled to come all the way from Port Isabel to claim your cargo, Captain!"

A swinging lantern on the lower deck brushed the reed-slim figure beside Maddix.

The girl was dressed in the newest San Francisco style, wasp-thin waist and bustle behind. Beneath her saucy hat he recognized distinct Chinese features.

The gangplank came over the side and now Maddix was clucking softly to himself and helping her onto the board. She came gracefully down from there by herself, a well-turned-out beautiful creature who had shipped halfway around the world to join the man Crotch carried on his foredeck in a box.

Maddix said heartlessly, "Her trunk, Captain. You may have all of her from here on." He gave the trunk a shove with his boot and it came sliding down the plank to turn over against its side.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By
CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

Just as soon as your car's motor has warmed up, push the choke button all the way in. Don't drive your car any longer than absolutely necessary with the choke pulled out part way.

On many makes of cars, having the choke pulled out a little also increases the idling speed of the motor. Throughout most of the year, this situation would not make a great deal of difference, but during the winter, when pavements are frequently very slippery, it could cause you to skid most unexpectedly.

With the motor idling higher than it normally does, your car will not decrease its speed to the point you have become accustomed to when you take your foot off the accelerator. You will have to use your brake sooner, and with the braking power competing against the power of the motor, the wheels will lock and the car will go into a skid. Depress the choke button as soon as your motor has warmed up, and you will have eliminated a good portion of the danger of skidding.

A copy of the completely new "Rules of the Road" booklet will be sent to you free upon request. Write to CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.
